

In between decorating, baking, and demonstrating holiday traditions, the innkeepers of Historic Inns of Rockland Maine have been busy gathering coats and donations for the Coats for Kids Campaign. During the annual Holiday House Tour held the last weekend in November, the Historic Inns of Rockland collected donations for Coats for Kids in lieu of charging admission. More than $400 and 45 coats were gathered. Don Carrigan of WCSH TV 6, the local sponsor of the Coats for Kids program, was on hand last weekend to gratefully accept the donation from Historic Inns of Rockland Maine, and acknowledge the generosity of the group.

“While we are dedicated to our guests’ comfort, we’re also committed to providing warmth for those in need throughout Maine,” said Cheryl Michaelsen, member of Historic Inns of Rockland Maine, and owner of Berry Manor Inn. “We’re delighted that those attending the annual Holiday House Tour made such generous contributions, making this donation possible.”

Historic Inns Donate to Coats for Kids

Participating in the Holiday House Tour were LimeRock Inn, Captain Lindsey House, Berry Manor Inn and Waterman Inn and Gardens.

L-r., P.J. Walter, Cheryl Michaelsen, Ken Barnes, Ellen Barnes, Frank Isganitis, and Judy and Melissa Waterman display coats collected for the Coats for Kids campaign during the Holiday House Tour.